Dear Parents,

Wow! What a busy week we had last week. It was wonderful to see the students dressed up for Carnival and enjoy eating pancakes on Shrove Tuesday. As you can see from the photos below the students had a fantastic time!

This week our class blog will get up and running so look out for your invitation to join the blog. The blog is a way for me to keep you updated with what the class is working on and also provides any additional information you may need to support your child’s learning.

It has been great to see the progress many students are making with their sight words, please continue to help your child learn these at home. Once your child has correctly read the words three times without error they are ready for me to check. To make this possible please ensure that students bring their blue bag with their reading diary and home book to school every day.

Have a great week,

Mel Southren
